

Contents

Preface vii

1. Human Rights in a Global Perspective 1
  - Human Rights as an Old Subject 1
  - Human Rights as a New Idea 14
  - Human Rights as a Political Idea 20
  - Levels of Political Analysis 21

2. Human Rights and International Law: Basic Values 33
  - The Role of the Individual 34
  - Clarity of Individual Human Rights 39
  - Individual Human Rights and Challenges to the State 43
  - Individual, State Security, and System Modification 44
  - Conclusions 46

3. Human Rights and the United Nations: Change and Its Significance 55
  - The Process: Six Organs 60
  - The Dynamics: Five Factors 71
  - The Significance of U.N. Change 76
  - Conclusions 79

4. Human Rights and the Organization of American States: A Regime Analysis 87
  - The Regime 87
  - On Hegemonic Leadership 90
  - Regime Creation 94
  - Regime Evolution 98
  - Regime Impact 105
  - Conclusions 108

5. Human Rights and the United States: Exceptionalism and International Society	119
Multilateral Diplomacy	121
Bilateral Diplomacy	127
The Congress	132
Conclusions	134
6. Human Rights and Private Transactional Action: The International Committee of the Red Cross	143
Some Basics	146
Leading Issues	152
Conclusion	164
7. Conclusion: Understanding Human Rights	171
Perception and Reality	173
New Perceptions	183
Final Thoughts	190
Appendix: Researching Basic Sources on Human Rights	195
Index	201
About the Author	211