

Contents

---

Preface	xi
1 The Legal Framework of the EC and Human Rights
I The Aim of an Internal Market and Related Social Problems	1
II Tasks and Aims of the EC and Means of Achieving Them	3
III EC-Provisions Concerning Social Standards and Social Politics	4
IV Human Rights as a Possible Legal–Political Basis	6
2 Perspectives of an International Labour, Economic and Social Legal Order on the Fundamentals of Human Rights
A Human Rights – Basis for a World Law	17
B A Programme of Ten Principles for an Individualistic–Democratic Labour, Economic and Social Order of the Future	25
C Explanatory Statements Regarding the ‘Programme of Principles’	27
D Outlooks of Collectivist–Democratic Labour, Economic and Social Orders	34
3 The Legal Status of the Employee in an Industrialised Society: Reflections on the So-called Welfare State
I Introduction: ‘The Change’ – ‘The Dismantling of the Welfare State’?	36

II	'Welfare State' – 'Democratic and Social Federal State' and 'Legal State' and the Legal Position of the Employee	38
III	Influence of the Industrial System on the Implied Importance of Basic Rights and 'Human Rights of All'?	50
IV	Can the Elementary Human Right 'Work Leads to Ownership of the Worker in the Product of his Work' be Realised by Collective Bargaining Autonomy?	62
V	The Fight For and Against Immutable and Inalienable 'Human Rights of All' and Democracy	66
VI	Thoughts and Ideas as to the Construction of a Liberal–Democratic and Social Legal State	73
VII	Utopia? – 'Tamperer with the System'? – Faith/Hope? – Optimism/Pessimism? – End without Change? – Scientific Recognition	76
VIII	Jurisprudence as Science and its Methods	78
4	Strike and Lock-out in the Order of the European Social Charter and 'Human Rights of All'
I	The European Social Charter as a Basis of International Law – General Human Rights as a Basis for Justice	81
II	The Character of the Legal Obligations of Art. 6, Para. 4, ESCh, and their Consequences	83
III	The Realisation of Art. 6, Para. 4, ESCh, in Other States of the Contracting Parties	86
IV	The Interpretations of Art. 6, Para. 4, ESCh	95
V	Fundamentals for the Solution of the Problems Described	98
VI	Work – Economy – Law in an Individualistic–Democratic, Market–Economy–Orientated Social Order	102
VII	Final Consequences for Strike and Lock-out – Interpretation of Art. 6, Para. 4, ESCh	122

---

5 Evaluation and Summary
I Social and Economic Human Rights of Importance for the Worker	126
II Differing Qualities of the Above-Listed Human Rights	128
III Human Rights and the Common Weal. Realisation in Present-day Political Systems	130
IV The Elementary Human Right 'Work Leads to Ownership of the Worker in the Product of his Work' Considered from the Perspective of the Philosophy of Karl Marx	134
V Deficits of Human Rights in 'Real Existing Socialism' and in Private Capitalism as Practised	136
Abbreviations	142
Appendix	143
Literaturverzeichnis	181
Index	000