

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

PART I: INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVE

CHAPTER 1: FREEDOM OF INFORMATION: AN INTERNATIONALLY PROTECTED HUMAN RIGHT

1.1 Introduction.....	1
1.2 International Standards	2
1.2.1 The United Nations	2
1.2.2 The Commonwealth.....	7
1.2.3 Organization of American States	9
1.2.4 Council of Europe.....	12
1.3 Issue-specific information.....	17
1.3.1 Information on the Environment.....	17
1.3.2 Information on Human Rights	20
1.4 Global Trends.....	23
1.4.1 National Constitutional Developments.....	23
1.4.2 National Legislation.....	27
1.4.3 Intergovernmental Organisations.....	30
1.4.3 a : The United Nations	30
1.4.3 b : International Financial Institutions	32
1.4.3 c : The European Union	34
1.5 The Content of the Right to Information	38
1.6 Conclusion.....	40
ANNEX I: Commonwealth Freedom Of Information Principles.....	41
ANNEX II: Exceptions Table.....	43

PART II: COUNTRY STUDIES

CHAPTER 2: COUNTRY STUDY - INDIA

2.1 Introduction.....	51
2.2 Information: What it Means and to Whom	52
2.3 The Need for the Right to Information	53
2.3.1 An Antidote to Corruption.....	54
2.3.2 Limiting Abuse of Discretion	54
2.3.3 Protection of Civil Liberties	55
2.3.4 A Matter of Life and Death	56
2.3.5 Participation	59
2.3.6 Knowledge of Laws and Policies	60
2.3.7 Elixir for the Media	60

2.4 The Existing Information Regime	61
2.4.1 Constitutional Guarantees	61
2.4.2 Laws Which Facilitate Disclosure	63
2.4.3 Secrecy	64
A matter of mindset	65
2.5 The state of official records	66
2.6 Illiteracy and Poor Means of Communication	67
2.7 Developments Towards a Right to Information.....	68
2.7.1 Amending the Official Secrets Act	68
2.7.2 Advocacy by Civil Society	68
The 'Press Council' Draft	68
The "CERC" Draft	69
2.7.3 Legislative Developments at the Centre	70
The "Shourie Committee" Draft	71
The Freedom of Information Bill, 2000	71
State Laws and Orders on the Right to Information	72
2.8 Advocacy on the Right to Information.....	72
2.8.1 The MKSS Movement.....	72
2.8.2 The National Campaign on People's Right to Information.....	75
2.8.3 The CHRI Campaign.....	75
2.8.4 Consumer and other groups	76
2.8.5 Advocacy Within the Government.....	77
2.9 Conclusion.....	77

ANNEX III: A Brief Analysis of Various State Laws and Orders on the Right to Information.....	79
--	----

ANNEX IV: Comparative Table Of Right to Information Legislation.....	82
--	----

ANNEX V: Detailed Analysis of the Freedom of Information Bill, 2000.....	85
--	----

CHAPTER 3: COUNTRY STUDY – PAKISTAN

3.1 Introduction.....	88
3.2 The Need for Information	90
3.3 The Existing Information Regime	93
3.3.1 Policies and Practices of Disclosure.....	93
3.3.2 Secrecy Laws and Other Legal Restrictions.....	93
The Official Secrets Act, 1926	94
The Security of Pakistan Act, 1952	94
The Maintenance of Public Order Ordinance, 1960	95
The Penal Code	96
The Code of Criminal Procedure	97
Laws of Contempt and Defamation	98
Threats of Legal Action	98
3.3.3 Laws exclusively related to the Press.....	99
3.4 Restrictive Practices.....	101
3.5 Record-Keeping	103
3.6 Control of information flows via the media.....	105
3.6.1 Broadcasting	105
3.6.2 News Agencies	107

3.7 Recent Developments and Official Resistance.....	108
3.7.1 Advocacy Initiatives.....	110
3.8 Conclusion.....	111

ANNEX VI: Freedom of Information Ordinance, 1997.....	113
---	-----

ANNEX VII: Draft Ordinance to Provide for Transparency and Freedom of Information, August 2000.....	116
--	-----

CHAPTER 4: COUNTRY STUDY – SRI LANKA

4.1 Introduction.....	120
4.2 The Need for Information	120
4.2.1 Democracy.....	120
4.2.2 Accountability and Good Governance	121
4.2.3 Protecting Other Human Rights.....	122
4.2.4 Promoting Peace.....	125
4.3 The Existing Information Regime	126
4.3.1 Constitutional Provisions.....	126
4.3.2 Secrecy Laws and Other Legal Restrictions on access to information.....	132
Official Secrets Act No. 32 of 1955	132
Sri Lanka Press Council Law No. 5 of 1973	133
Official Publication Ordinance No. 47 of 1946	134
Public Security Ordinance No. 25 of 1947	134
Prevention of Terrorism Act No. 48 of 1979	135
4.3.3 Restrictions Related to the Conflict.....	135
Prior Censorship	135
Access to the North and East	137
Threats, violence and self-censorship	137
4.4 Restrictive Practices	139
4.5 Control of Information.....	140
4.6 Recent Developments and Advocacy Efforts on Freedom of Information	141
4.6.1 The Committee on Media Law Reform.....	141
4.6.2 Draft Access to Official Information Act, 1996	143
4.7 Conclusion.....	145

ANNEX VIII: Recommendations of the Sri Lanka Law Commission.....	146
--	-----

PART III: RECOMMENDATIONS

CHAPTER 5: Recommendations of ARTICLE 19, CHRI, CPA and HRCP

5.1 Recommendations to Governments.....	148
5.2 Recommendations to Civil Society.....	149
5.3 Recommendations to the Business Community.....	150
5.4 Recommendations to the International Community.....	150

2.4 The Existing Information Regime	61
2.4.1 Constitutional Guarantees	61
2.4.2 Laws Which Facilitate Disclosure	63
2.4.3 Secrecy	64
A matter of mindset	65
2.5 The state of official records	66
2.6 Illiteracy and Poor Means of Communication	67
2.7 Developments Towards a Right to Information.....	68
2.7.1 Amending the Official Secrets Act	68
2.7.2 Advocacy by Civil Society	68
The 'Press Council' Draft	68
The "CERC" Draft	69
2.7.3 Legislative Developments at the Centre	70
The "Shourie Committee" Draft	71
The Freedom of Information Bill, 2000	71
State Laws and Orders on the Right to Information	72
2.8 Advocacy on the Right to Information.....	72
2.8.1 The MKSS Movement.....	72
2.8.2 The National Campaign on People's Right to Information.....	75
2.8.3 The CHRI Campaign.....	75
2.8.4 Consumer and other groups	76
2.8.5 Advocacy Within the Government.....	77
2.9 Conclusion.....	77

ANNEX III: A Brief Analysis of Various State Laws and Orders on the Right to Information.....	79
--	----

ANNEX IV: Comparative Table Of Right to Information Legislation.....	82
--	----

ANNEX V: Detailed Analysis of the Freedom of Information Bill, 2000.....	85
--	----

CHAPTER 3: COUNTRY STUDY – PAKISTAN

3.1 Introduction.....	88
3.2 The Need for Information	90
3.3 The Existing Information Regime	93
3.3.1 Policies and Practices of Disclosure.....	93
3.3.2 Secrecy Laws and Other Legal Restrictions.....	93
The Official Secrets Act, 1926	94
The Security of Pakistan Act, 1952	94
The Maintenance of Public Order Ordinance, 1960	95
The Penal Code	96
The Code of Criminal Procedure	97
Laws of Contempt and Defamation	98
Threats of Legal Action	98
3.3.3 Laws exclusively related to the Press.....	99
3.4 Restrictive Practices.....	101
3.5 Record-Keeping	103
3.6 Control of information flows via the media.....	105
3.6.1 Broadcasting	105
3.6.2 News Agencies	107

3.7 Recent Developments and Official Resistance.....	108
3.7.1 Advocacy Initiatives.....	110
3.8 Conclusion.....	111

ANNEX VI: Freedom of Information Ordinance, 1997.....	113
---	-----

ANNEX VII: Draft Ordinance to Provide for Transparency and Freedom of Information, August 2000.....	116
--	-----

CHAPTER 4: COUNTRY STUDY – SRI LANKA

4.1 Introduction.....	120
4.2 The Need for Information	120
4.2.1 Democracy	120
4.2.2 Accountability and Good Governance	121
4.2.3 Protecting Other Human Rights	122
4.2.4 Promoting Peace.....	125
4.3 The Existing Information Regime	126
4.3.1 Constitutional Provisions.....	126
4.3.2 Secrecy Laws and Other Legal Restrictions on access to information.....	132
Official Secrets Act No. 32 of 1955	132
Sri Lanka Press Council Law No. 5 of 1973	133
Official Publication Ordinance No. 47 of 1946	134
Public Security Ordinance No. 25 of 1947	134
Prevention of Terrorism Act No. 48 of 1979	135
4.3.3 Restrictions Related to the Conflict.....	135
Prior Censorship	135
Access to the North and East	137
Threats, violence and self-censorship	137
4.4 Restrictive Practices	139
4.5 Control of Information	140
4.6 Recent Developments and Advocacy Efforts on Freedom of Information	141
4.6.1 The Committee on Media Law Reform	141
4.6.2 Draft Access to Official Information Act, 1996	143
4.7 Conclusion.....	145

ANNEX VIII: Recommendations of the Sri Lanka Law Commission.....	146
--	-----

PART III: RECOMMENDATIONS

CHAPTER 5: Recommendations of ARTICLE 19, CHRI, CPA and HRCP

5.1 Recommendations to Governments.....	148
5.2 Recommendations to Civil Society	149
5.3 Recommendations to the Business Community	150
5.4 Recommendations to the International Community	150