

Contents

Contributors, ix

Introduction, 3
Stephen Macedo

PART I: CHALLENGING THE VALUE OF DELIBERATIVE DEMOCRACY

1. Talking as a Decision Procedure, 17
Frederick Schauer

2. Enough of Deliberation:
Politics Is about Interests and Power, 28
Ian Shapiro

3. Diversity, Toleration, and Deliberative Democracy:
Religious Minorities and Public Schooling, 39
William A. Galston

4. Three Limitations of Deliberative Democracy:
Identity Politics, Bad Faith, and Indeterminacy, 49
William H. Simon

5. Deliberation, and What Else?, 58
Michael Walzer
6. Democratic Deliberation: The Problem of Implementation, 70
Daniel A. Bell
7. Mutual Respect as a Device of Exclusion, 88
Stanley Fish
8. Deliberation: Method, Not Theory, 103
Russell Hardin
- PART II: EXPANDING THE LIMITS OF
DELIBERATIVE DEMOCRACY
9. Agreement without Theory, 123
Cass R. Sunstein
10. Justice, Inclusion, and Deliberative Democracy, 151
Iris Marion Young
11. Constitutionalism and Deliberative Democracy, 159
Jack Knight
12. Internal Disagreements: Deliberation and Abortion, 170
Alan Wertheimer
13. Law, Democracy, and Moral Disagreement:
Reciprocity, Slavery, and Abortion, 184
Robert P. George
14. Enabling Democratic Deliberation: *How Managed Care Organizations
Ought to Make Decisions about Coverage for New Technologies*, 198
Norman Daniels
15. Everyday Talk in the Deliberative System, 211
Jane Mansbridge

PART III: REPLY TO THE CRITICS

- Democratic Disagreement, 243
Amy Gutmann and Dennis Thompson

Index, 281