

Table of Contents

Foreword – Dr. Paikiasothy Saravanamuttu .....	08
Preface .....	10
1. Introduction .....	16
PART I            The Theory and Practice of Emergency Powers
2. Theory and Practice: An Introduction to Three Models .....	29
2.1. Models of Accommodation .....	31
2.1.1. Classical Models of Accommodation .....	32
The Roman Dictatorship .....	32
The French State of Siege .....	39
The British Concept of Martial Law .....	41
2.1.2. The Modern Comparative Context:
Three Categories of Accommodation .....	44
Constitutional Accommodation .....	45
Legislative Accommodation .....	46
Interpretive Accommodation .....	47
2.2. Business as Usual Model .....	48
2.3. Extra-Legal Measures Models .....	50
Carl Schmitt: Sovereign Dictatorship, the Concept of the Political and the State of Permanent Exception ...	54

3. The Neo-Roman Constitutional Model of Accommodation: Comparative Experience .....	63
3.1. Comparative Experience: Constitutional Issues and Responses .....	65
3.1.1. What is an Emergency? The Problem of Definition .....	65
3.1.2. Declaration, Extension and Termination .....	73
3.1.3. Legal Effects of a Declaration of Emergency .....	78
3.1.4. Checks and Balances .....	86
3.2. Comparative Experience: Areas of Concern .....	91
3.2.1. Constitutional Accommodation: Misuse and Abuse .....	92
3.2.2. Communal Alienation: Us vs. Them .....	96
3.2.3. The Concept of Militant Democracy and the Sixth Amendment .....	100
3.2.4. Normalisation of the Exception .....	104
4. Standards governing States of Emergency at International Law and Practice .....	109
4.1. General Observations: International Human Rights Law as a Legislative and Interpretive Framework of Accommodation .....	115
4.1.1. Definition of Emergency .....	116
4.1.2. Derogations .....	120
4.1.3. Common Themes of Treaty Body Jurisprudence .....	123
4.1.4. Overview of the Derogation Jurisprudence and Commentary of the Human Rights Committee .....	124
4.2. International Protection vs. National Implementation: The Enforcement Framework of the ICCPR .....	126
4.2.1. The Human Rights Committee .....	129
4.2.2. The Reporting Procedure .....	130
4.2.3. Inter-State Communications .....	133
4.2.4. Individual Communications .....	134
4.2.5. Conclusions .....	136

4.3. International Human Rights Standards in States of Emergency under the ICCPR: The Legal Regime of Derogations .....	137
4.3.1. The Principle of Exceptional Threat .....	141
4.3.2. The Principle of Proclamation .....	144
4.3.3. The Principle of Notification .....	147
4.3.4. The Principle of Non-Derogability .....	151
4.3.5. The Principle of Proportionality .....	159
4.3.6. The Principle of Non-Discrimination .....	165
4.3.7. The Principle of Consistency .....	168

PART II      The Sri Lankan Experience of Emergency Powers

5. Sri Lanka's Constitutional and Legal Framework regarding States of Emergency .....	173
5.1. The Constitutional and Statutory Framework: Chapter XVIII and the PSO .....	176
5.1.1. Emergency Regulations .....	180
5.2. Special Anti-Terrorism Powers: The PTA .....	186
5.3. Judicial Review of States of Emergency .....	190
5.4. General Observations on Constitutional Framework on Emergencies .....	197
5.4.1. The Definition of 'State of Public Emergency' .....	198
5.4.2. Declaration, Extension and Termination .....	200
5.4.3. Legal Effects .....	203
5.4.4. Checks and Balances .....	206

6. Fundamental Rights .....	207
6.1. Chapter II: Sri Lanka's Constitutional Bill of Rights .....	208
6.2. General Observations on the Fundamental Rights Framework .....	210
6.2.1. Structure and Content .....	211
6.2.2. Judicial Protection of Fundamental Rights .....	212
6.2.3. Restrictions on Fundamental Rights: Limitations and Derogations .....	217
6.3. Restrictions on Fundamental Rights: International Standards .....	219
6.4. Sri Lanka's International Obligations: ICCPR .....	221
6.4.1. The Singarasa Case (2006) and Sri Lanka's International Obligations .....	224
6.4.2. The Supreme Court Advisory Opinion on the ICCPR (2008) .....	231
7. Conclusion .....	235

Annexures

Table of Cases .....	239
Proclamations and Emergency Regulations .....	243
Bibliography .....	249