

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Abbreviations and Acronyms	xi
Introduction	1

PART I SOME DEBATES OF RELEVANCE TO THE DEVELOPMENT PRACTITIONER

1 Background	9
The Big Picture	9
The Human Rights Debates	13
2 The Legal Challenges	17
The Charge of Eurocentrism	17
The Contested Nature of Second- and Third-Generation Rights	38

PART II HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE PRACTICE OF DEVELOPMENT

3 The Basics	47
Rhetorical Incorporation	50
4 Political Conditionality	56
History of Conditionality	57
Difficulties	59
Beyond Aid Conditionality	69
Conclusion	76

5 Positive Support	83
The Practice of Positive Support	85
The Tools of Positive Support	88
Does Positive Support—If Not All Aid— Undermine Governance by Definition?	110
Conclusion	118
Post-Script: The Issue of Coherence	119
6 A Rights-Based Approach to Development	122
Vision	129
Process	137
Some Practical Implications of a Rights-Based Approach to Development	139
Conclusion	166
7 Final Synthesis and Questions	167
A Synthesis of the Arguments	168
A Step Back: Big Trends and Questions	178
Choices Among Rights	184
A Fear: Is This Agenda Too Interventionist?	195
Notes	203
Bibliography	211
Index	227
About the Author	241