

CONTENTS

FOREWORD	4
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	8
INTRODUCTION	9
1. Purpose and nature of the Interpretive Guidance	9
2. The issue of civilian participation in hostilities	11
3. Key legal questions	12
PART 1 : RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE ICRC	15
PART 2 : RECOMMENDATIONS AND COMMENTARY	19
A. The concept of civilian	20
I. The concept of civilian in international armed conflict	20
1. Mutual exclusiveness of the concepts of civilian, armed forces and levée en masse	20
2. Armed forces	21
3. Levée en masse	25
4. Conclusion	26
II. The concept of civilian in non-international armed conflict	27
1. Mutual exclusiveness of the concepts of civilian, armed forces and organized armed groups	27
2. State armed forces	30
3. Organized armed groups	31
4. Conclusion	36
III. Private contractors and civilian employees	37
1. Particular difficulties related to private contractors and civilian employees	37
2. International armed conflict	38
3. Non-international armed conflict	39
4. Conclusion	40
B. The concept of direct participation in hostilities	41
IV. Direct participation in hostilities as a specific act	43
1. Basic components of the notion of direct participation in hostilities	43
2. Restriction to specific acts	44
3. Conclusion	45

V. Constitutive elements of direct participation in hostilities	46
1. Threshold of harm	47
2. Direct causation	51
3. Belligerent nexus	58
4. Conclusion	64
VI. Beginning and end of direct participation in hostilities	65
1. Preparatory measures	65
2. Deployment and return	67
3. Conclusion	68
C. Modalities governing the loss of protection	69
VII. Temporal scope of the loss of protection	70
1. Civilians	70
2. Members of organized armed groups	71
3. Conclusion	73
VIII. Precautions and presumptions in situations of doubt	74
1. The requirement of feasible precautions	74
2. Presumption of civilian protection	75
3. Conclusion	76
IX. Restraints on the use of force in direct attack	77
1. Prohibitions and restrictions laid down in specific provisions of IHL	77
2. The principles of military necessity and humanity	78
3. Conclusion	82
X. Consequences of regaining civilian protection	83
1. Lack of immunity from domestic prosecution	83
2. Obligation to respect IHL	84
3. Conclusion	85